FOUNDER'S MESSAGE

Reflecting on the progress made by OVAH in 2022, I am filled with a deep sense of pride and gratitude. This past year has been both challenging and rewarding, as we set out to accomplish our mission of ending sexual violence against children and women in Tanzania.

With a team of dedicated employees, interns, and volunteers, we embarked on a journey of discovery and determination, exploring new frontiers and taking calculated risks in our quest for a safer future. The impact of our efforts has been truly significant, and we remain steadfast in our resolve to achieve even greater success in 2023.

As you peruse this annual report, you will discover the many achievements of OVAH in the past year, and gain a renewed sense of hope for a safer and more equitable future for the children and women of Tanzania. Our success is a testament to what can be accomplished when we work together, and we are grateful for the support of our funders, including the We Are Family Foundation, the Mastercard Scholars Foundation, and the Women Fund Tanzania.

We offer our sincere thanks to these organizations, as well as to all of our supporters, for their invaluable contributions to OVAH's growth and progress. We look forward to continued collaboration in the future, and to making a lasting impact on the lives of those we serve.

OUR HISTORY

As a student, Modesta faced physical and sexual harassment in public transportation. Determined to create a safer environment for students, particularly girls, Modesta learned how to code and created a website, OurCries, where students could report harassment they faced on buses and from bus operators. Her goal was to shed light on this issue and create change. Modesta secured funding to build physical boxes and place them in 20 schools in Dar es Salaam for students to submit their reports. She then pursued a partnership with LATRA (previously known as SUMATRA), a government agency overseeing the transportation sector in Tanzania. Two years after launching her project, Modesta was able to secure a meeting with the LATRA's Director General and proposed using the data from the reported cases to identify and fine buses that were harassing students.

From 2015 to 2018, Modesta worked tirelessly to raise awareness about student harassment in transportation and mobilize stakeholders such as students, parents, schools, and bus operators to take joint action and bring about behavior change. Her experiences studying abroad and learning about gender-based violence in the continent, particularly sexual violence, further solidified her resolve to make a difference.

In 2019, Modesta made it her mission to combat sexual violence in Tanzania and expanded her organization, OurCries, to OVAH. She brought together a team of volunteers to protect and eradicate all forms of sexual violence facing girls and women in Tanzania. Today, OVAH has become a champion for change and a voice for the voiceless.

WHO WE ARE

Our Voices Against Harassment is a non-profit organization based in Tanzania with the registration number 00NGO/R/2053 dedicated to ending sexual violence and creating a gender-just and violence-free society.

We raise awareness about sexual violence in our societies, promote the culture of reporting sexual violence incidents, and work to eliminate negative social norms that perpetuate violence against women and girls, such as victimization. We empower women and girls in Tanzania by providing support services, changing societal norms, and providing education and self-defense training.

With a focus on girls and women, who are disproportionately affected by sexual violence, OVAH's interventions are tailored to meet their unique needs and address the root causes of the problem. Additionally, OVAH works directly with marginalized groups that have experienced sexual assault, with the objective of empowering, educating, and supporting them on the path towards recovery and justice. Our ultimate goal is to bring an end to Gender-Based Violence and sexual violence in Tanzania.

PROJECT IMPLEMENTATION IN 2022

Sexual Violence Awareness and Prevention Workshops Programs

In 2022, we successfully raised awareness of sexual violence in Tanzania by conducting workshops in schools. Our Sexual Violence Awareness and Prevention Workshops were held in 18 primary and secondary schools in Dar es Salaam, Arusha, and Zanzibar, impacting 1101 girls and 358 boys. During these workshops, we provided participants with valuable knowledge and information on various forms of sexual violence. Moreover, we helped them unlearn negative social norms and learn about different mediums to report sexual violence incidents.

In addition, we showcased our animations “Mwajuma Simama” and “Elimika na Mwajuma” to the participants, which address topics such as sexual grooming, victim-blaming, and sexual corruption. These animations sparked productive discussions and conversations among the participants, allowing them to share their learning points and takeaways from the experience. As a result of a large number of students and our COVID-19 safety protocols, we revisited some schools to conduct additional workshops for new groups of participants. During these workshops, we also provided self-defense training to help them develop the verbal and physical skills necessary to defend themselves in the event of an attack. Self-defense training is the only sexual violence prevention strategy with solid evidence of effectiveness at reducing rates of victimization.

The map shows the Regions that we implemented the workshops in 2022.

"Mimi kama mwanafunzi wa kwembe niliuthulia kwenye workshop ya OVAH. Nilijifunza mambo mengi. Jambo la kwanza ni Kujiamini. ambo la kwanza ni Kujiamini. Mimi nilikuwa mwanafunzi ambaye sijiamini, lakini baada ya kupitia workshop hii ya Sexual Violence Awareness and Preventions; nilijikuta naweza kujiamini. Nimekuwa Jasiri, nikisimamia katika misimamo yangu. Ni mwanamke ambaye sipendi uzembe tena. Asante. Namwashauri OVAH kuendelea kutowa elimu, maana ni wanafunzi wengi ambao wanapitia changamoto za unyanyasaji na ukatili wa kijinsia.

Additionally, we organized a five-day workshop in the beautiful Wasa Village located in Iringa. This workshop was designed for thirty young girls and women aged between 14-20 years old, and boys and men aged between 16-23. We delved into crucial topics such as sex education, gender-based violence, boundaries, consent, and healthy relationships. We were honored to provide a safe and supportive space for the participants, particularly for those who were victims or survivors of sexual violence. With compassion and empathy, we offered them the necessary resources and tools to heal, move forward, and empower themselves.

ANIMATION DISTRIBUTION AND DISTRIBUTION

Mwajuma Simama

In 2021, we worked with the animators from Jamii Design to develop our first Animation series called Mwajuma Simama! The animation revolves around the main character, Mwajuma, and her experiences with Grooming, Consent, Sexual harassment, Rape, Victim-blaming, and other issues. The animation encourages victims to speak out about these incidents and urges society to create a better, violence-free environment for girls and women. We initially released and distributed the first two episodes of our animation series in 2021 and the remaining three episodes in 2022.

The series has proven to be an incredibly effective tool that we utilize for outreach to influence mindset and behavioral change towards gender-based violence and sexual violence. We screened the animation to 1398 children and young women. Furthermore, we have reached a vast online audience of 180,654 individuals, with the most engaged age range being between 15-18 years old.

Episode 1: Sexual Grooming

Episode 2: Sexual Violence

Episode 3: Victim blaming

Mwajuma Simama's third episode depicts the shaming and blaming of victims in our society. Mwajuma can be seen debating whether or not to tell her mother what happened. Her mother notices her sadness and inquires as to what has happened. Mwajuma's mother, on the other hand, did not believe Mwajuma. She warns her not to bring it up ever again because her uncle is incapable of raping her, She thinks Mwajuma is lying.

Episode 4: Speak up Against Violence

The episode describes the OVAH's assistance to her. Mwajuma Sister Hekima tells Mwajuma about an organization that assists girls and women who have been subjected to sexual violence in reporting and connecting with psychologists and lawyers.

ANIMATION DEVELOPMENT AND DISTRIBUTION

ELIMIKA NA MWAJUMA

This is our second animation; it is not a series, so each episode does not build on the previous one; however, it addresses various topics concerning gender-based violence. The project Elimika na Mwajuma was funded by Women Fund Tanzania in collective efforts of raising awareness on Gender-Based Violence and its prevention. Elimika na Mwajuma is a 3D animation that aims to change people's mindsets and attitudes towards Sexual Corruption, Early Marriage, Intimate-Partner Violence, and Rape Culture.

1 SEX CORRUPTION/ RUSHWA YA NGONO.

The first video discusses sexual corruption in Tanzanian universities and encourages students (as well as other individuals such as workers in workplaces, etc.) to be aware of the reporting structures in their institutions and outside of them in order to report sexual corruption. We also explained how sexual corruption affects victims and the nation as a whole.

2 CHILD MARRIAGE AND INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE

The second video is about child marriage and intimate-partner violence. The video depicts how early marriage steals young girls' dreams and puts them at a much higher risk of experiencing intimate partner violence in their marriages. We highlighted actions that viewers of the video could take to help eliminate child marriage and Intimate-Partner Violence in Tanzania.

3 RAPE CULTURE

The third video is about Rape culture. Rape Culture is deeply rooted in patriarchy in our country. Actions such as blaming the victims of acts of violence, not asking for consent in sexual matters, justifying acts of violence in movies and music, seeing women's bodies as sex tools, saying victims wanted to be raped because of where they are or their clothes, placing responsibility on women prevent rape and say men will be men without any accountability. These are a few examples discussed in the video.

ELIMIKA NA MWAJUMA

Elimika na Mwajuma was distributed through online campaigns, workshops, and collaboration with other institutions. We worked with 11 different organizations to distribute the video both online and offline. Special thanks to Asma Mwinyi Foundation, TAI Tanzania, SEMA Tanzania, SILABU, Apps and Girls, Nlab Innovation Academy, Mtabe, TAHLISO, UDLA, GirlUp Dar es Salaam, and ZanChangemakers for participating in the campaign and partnering with us to continue distributing the videos.

- All three videos combined reached a total of 45,524 through online platforms
- We screened the animation to 698 students in seven schools during our expansion in the Arusha region.
- Tai Tanzania screening Elimika na Mwajuma in their workshop in Shinyanga. During physical outreach visits to four wards in Kahama municipality, Shinyanga region, 355 adolescent girls and young women were reached. The project beneficiaries ranged in age from 12 to 29, with the youngest being 12 and the oldest being 29. In terms of education, the majority of beneficiaries were in secondary school. About 27 women said they had gotten pregnant at least once, and the majority of them said it happened before they were 18.
- Women's Conference and Launch of the Gender Desk at ST John's University in Dodoma. We approached the organizers of a women's conference at St. John's University about screening the animation during the event. We were able to distribute the videos to 215 female students and 153 male students.

THE ORANGE TABLE SERIES

In March 2022, we launched a social media outreach programme featuring different social change makers to discuss prevalent issues affecting children, youth, and women in our communities. We have held seven sessions via Instagram live and Twitter spaces with a total of 346 participants. The English-Swahili sessions provide us with the opportunity to engage in real-time conversations with our intended beneficiaries, experts, and government officials. The atmosphere created during these sessions is conducive to productive experiences, allowing us to bounce ideas off each other while simultaneously learning facts about violence against women and children. Through these sessions, we gain a deeper understanding of the scope of the issue and explore ways to prevent it.

To highlight a few, the first episode was titled, How Victim Blaming affects one's Mental health, where we featured Masuma Somji, a psychologist and sexual harassment activist in Tanzania. She shared her experience with intimate partner violence, and how victim blaming affected her mental health.

Takeaways from the first episode:

- ✓ Victim blaming is essentially attacking the victim's self-worth
- ✓ Feminism is not about having women's rights above men's, it is about having equal opportunities, rights and space.
- ✓ Speaking up is the one thing we must do! It helps you heal, encourages other victims to speak up & holds the perpetrator accountable!

THE AMBASSADORS PROGRAM

During workshops in schools, we are honored to meet Youths passionate about promoting social justice and creating positive change in the world who asked to be part of the organization in a greater capacity. In June 2022, we managed to launch the Ambassador program with the aim to empower individuals passionate about a sexual violence-free society to raise awareness and advocate for change by providing capacity-building trainings and resources, guiding them step by step on how to advocate for this issue and create a positive impact in their community.

As an organization, we believe that eliminating sexual violence harassment and gender inequalities in our societies is an issue that requires collaborative efforts from all types of stakeholders. The Ambassador program was created to increase the number of actors who can actively and positively act to create a safe and just society. We have so far registered 114 ambassadors from eight regions: Dar es Salaam, Dodoma, Morogoro, Zanzibar, Kagera, Mwanza, Mbeya and Arusha. We conduct in-person and virtual Training of Trainer sessions with the ambassadors to equip them with the knowledge and skills they need to be effective agents of change..

ACTION, SAFETY, AND PROTECTION

Reporting platform and Support services

A significant number of sexual assault incidents remain unreported, primarily because of the fear of victim-blaming, insufficient knowledge of the procedures, and limited access to support centers and services. We collaborate with the best psychologists and legal personnel in the country to provide support services of counselling and legal advice to the victims and survivors of sexual violence so they heal and recover from the trauma of sexual violence. We recruited a total of 00 experienced and professional psychologists and 00 legal practitioners in different (list regions) to volunteer to deliver their services to the victims of sexual violence.

Empowerment Self-Defense Training Program for Girls and Women

Empowerment Self-Defence (ESD) is an explicitly feminist set of self-defence principles pioneered by grassroots women's movements in the 1960s and 70s but with much earlier roots in the women's movements of the early 20th century. Unlike most martial arts, the focus is not solely on repelling an attacker in the street: ESD most often includes training on assertiveness, consent, de-escalation, a range of physical strategies to rebuff without injuring, as well as harder physical resistance strategies. Teaching an array of strategies – not just fighting skills – is vital when seven in most rape incidents are perpetrated by someone known to the victim, and when few sexual assaults occur as surprise attacks in public spaces.

Over the past years we've spread Awareness to communities, provide legal assistance to victims&survivors of sexual abuse and violence through our awareness and advocacy programs. This year, we took a step further and welcomed girls and women aged 14 to 25 for the Empowerment Self Defence training. Many thanks to our ESD certified global Trainer, Eng Juliana Marko, who partnered with us to deliver these trainings to 907 children, youth, and women in Dar-es-Salaam and Arusha.

ORGANISATION HIGHLIGHTS

Expansion to Arusha Region.

In November 2022, We conducted the Sexual Violence Awareness and Prevention workshops in primary and secondary schools in Arusha. We conducted these workshops in 7 schools where we taught students how to recognise elements of sexual grooming, sexual harassment, assault, and the concept of consent, privacy and boundaries and how to get help if they are victims of sexual violence. We also provided self-defence training to all participants, girls and boys. The goal is to change society's attitudes & mindsets about sexual violence from young ages. These workshops allow us to inspire these young people to think in the right direction. One of our objectives for 2022 was to expand our in-person programs beyond Dar es Salaam. We obtained an expansion permit from TAMISEMI, which allowed us to expand our school-related program to other regions, beginning with Arusha.

ORGANISATIONS HIGHLIGHTS

Annual Commemoration Of The International Day Of The Girl Child 2022

October 11, is a day dedicated to celebrating girls across the world. A day to amplify their voices emphasise their potential, and the power they hold embedded in their identities. The International Day of the Girl Child focuses attention on the need to address the challenges girls face and to promote girls' empowerment and the fulfilment of their human rights.

On 22 October, we hosted a commemoration event for the International Day of the girl Child: #MiminiMsichanaShujaa with the theme Times for Unstoppable Girls: To be Heard, Educated and Protected (Nyakati za Msichana Shujaa: Asikilizwe, Aelimishwe na Alindwe). This was our first event ever as an organisation! We collaborated with Ukweli Wangu, Sema Tanzania, and Hills Water to bring together 89 students from 8 schools and another 20 participants from various universities in Dar es Salaam. The event provided a platform for girls and stakeholders to engage in meaningful dialogue about girl rights, their challenges, and the way forward. The event included panel discussions, the screening of our new educational animation about GBV, a storytelling performance by participants, and exhibitions.

Mimi ni Msichana Shujaa Storytelling competition

We hosted a storytelling competition for girls and young women (13-25) to submit creative written or performative materials such as poems, songs, scripts, plays/acts, essays, and drawings that highlight issues faced by Tanzanian girls and ways to address those challenges. We received 40 submissions, all of which were very creatively expressed. On December 10, International Human Rights Day and the last day of the #16daysofactivisimagainstgbv, six winners were announced, with a total of $230 awarded. The winning categories were the first winner (Msichana Shujaa Storytelling Award) the second winner (The Changemaker Award) the third winner (The Challenge Award) the forth winner (Innovation Award) the fifth winner (The Artistic Award) the sixth winner (People's Choice Award).

ACHIEVEMENTS

1. We launched a mass media campaign titled “UsikaeKimya”, A one-minute ad telling the stories of Tanzanian girls and women's realities in order to encourage people to speak up about sexual violence and report such incidents. The video ad campaign was streamed in the Tanzania Broadcasting Corporation (TBC) to reach a large number of Tanzanians. Through this ad, we were able to capture the attention of ACP Thomas kawala, and initiate a collaborative partnership in efforts of providing additional support (medical examination and gender desks) to victims of sexual violence.
2. In 2022, We were able to Collaborate with other initiatives and organisations: SEMA Tanzania, Haki Initiative, ASMA Mwinyi Foundation in different projects.
3. Strengthened collaboration with government agencies such as TAKUKURU, MoCDGWSG, and Tanzania Police Force to provide comprehensive support for survivors.

CHALLENGES AND LESSONS LEARNED

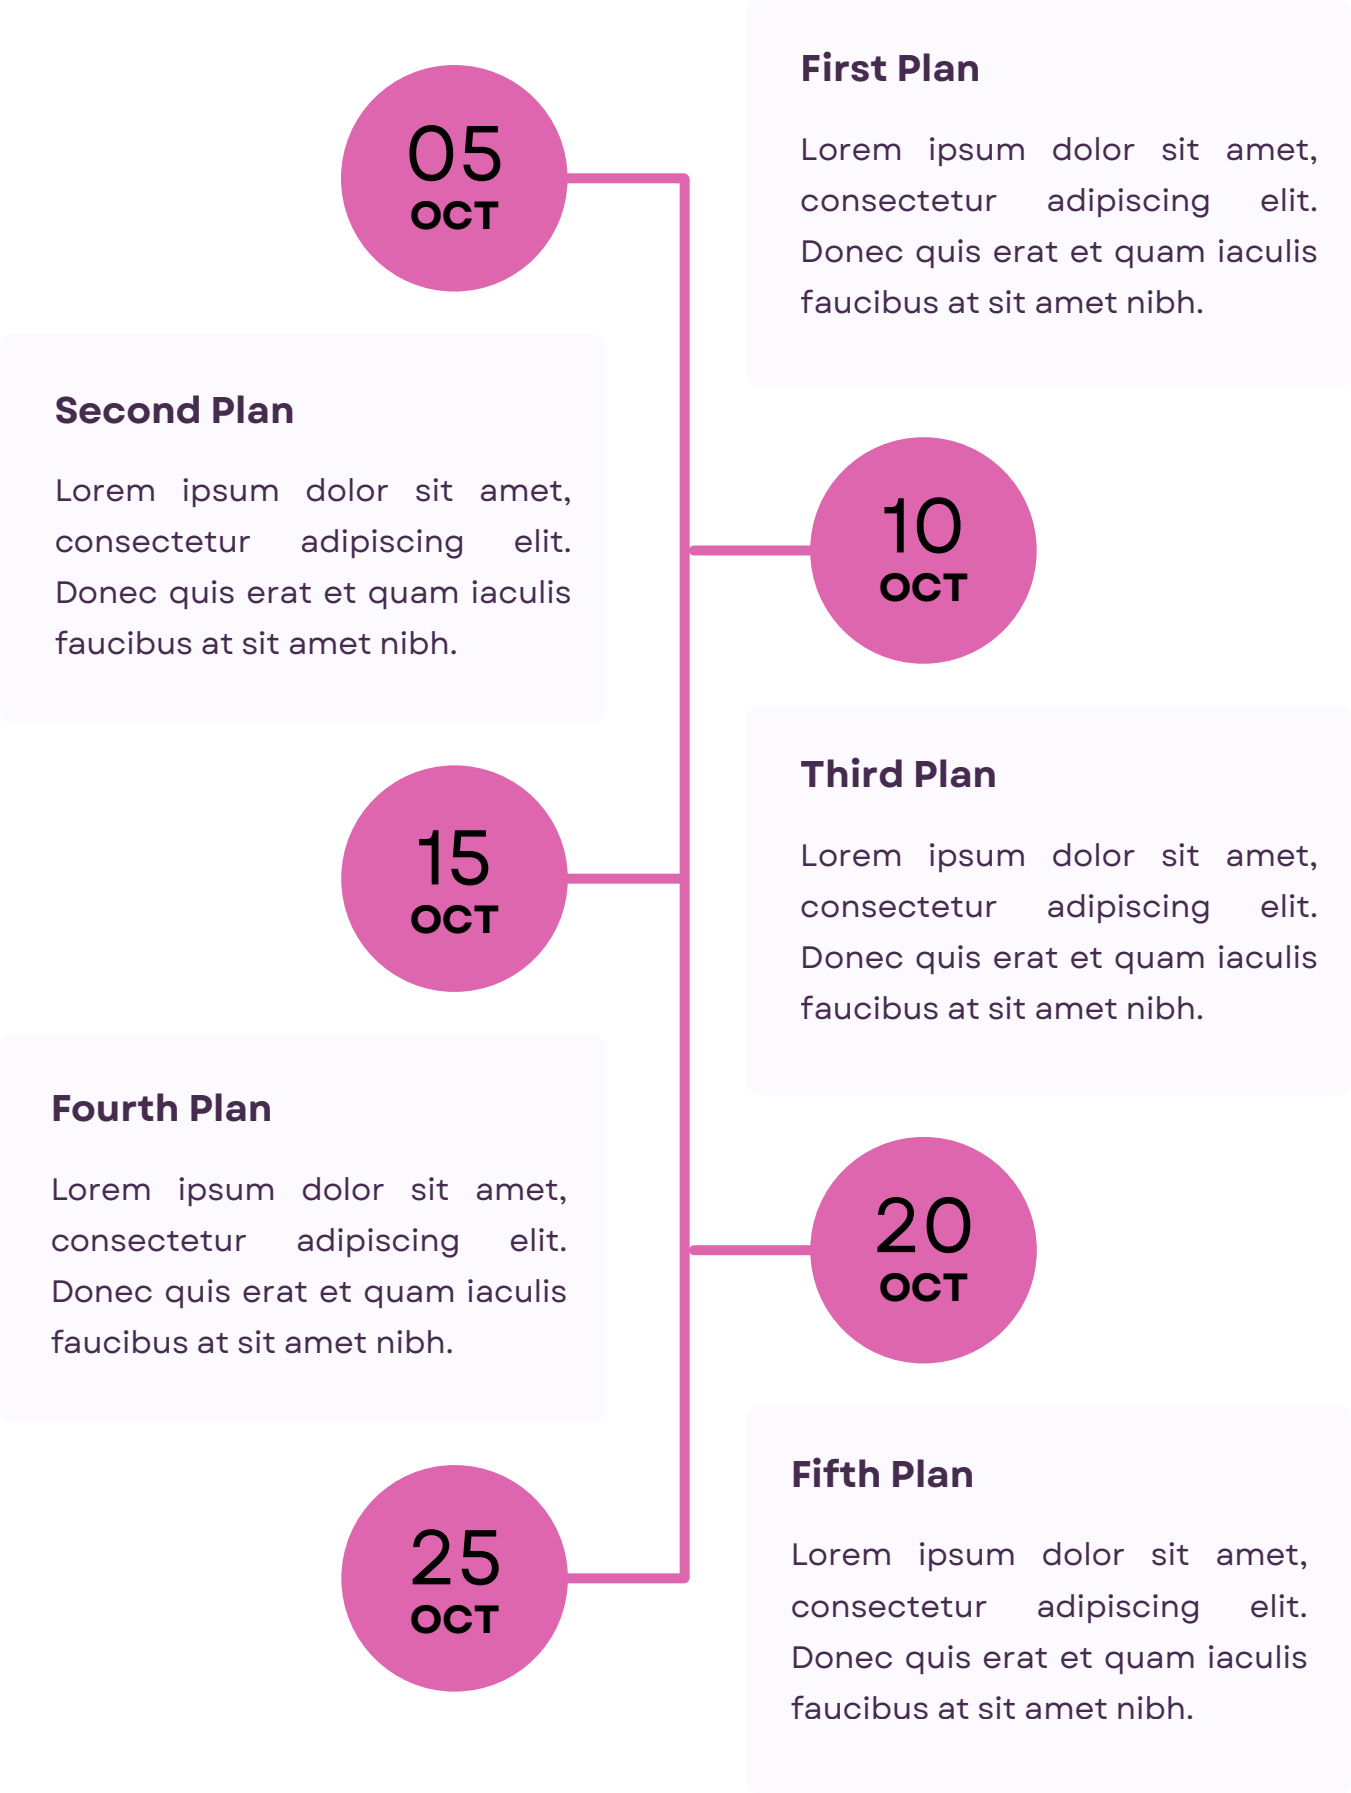

As a result of inadequate funding, staffing and resources, conducting long-term interventions or follow-up programs in various communities can be challenging, hindering the achievement of sustainable and long-term impact, such as changes in mindset and behavior. However, we recognize the importance of such impact and have made it an integral component of our programs to comprehend the unique needs of different communities. By doing so, we can effectively prevent and respond to instances of sexual violence, and ensure that our efforts have a significant and lasting impact on the communities we serve.

When you've decided on your cover story, come up with a list of topics for your feature articles. This can range from interviews, product reviews, human interest pieces, and even lists. Think about what your audience would be interested in and get writing! Again, choose engaging photos and graphics to accompany your words, as these also help catch your audience's eye.

After writing all your articles and adding them to your layout, list down all the titles to set up your table of contents. You can add a brief description for each article or keep it simple and paste the feature titles on the page. Don't forget your page numbers too!

Finally, design your back page. Most magazines feature a full-page advertisement, which you're also welcome to do. Why not partner with a local business and feature their products? Not your style? Simply include some contact information and tell your audience how to reach you. Add your social media handles, email, or even any publication information you think they'd be interested in. You can even just extend your cover photo to keep things clean and simple. A magazine can be a great way to reach your audience and communicate your message to the world. With great, curated content, yours can be a bestseller in no time.
